

Revolutionary Stand

Love lives and divides a blight.
Redeem colorful passages to pray.
Passions held high restore plight.
Noetic winds aloft in trees.
Truth narrates beckoning frost.
Best self remains, and frees.
Never once guided, forever lost.
Pause in due hopes that arise.
Fueled dissonance all, but dies.

–Jan L. Harvey